

33 FIREMEN REPORTED KILLED BY EXPLOSION

BLAST WRECKS STORAGE PLANT NEAR COMMUNIPAW, N. J.

Men Were Fighting Fire Resulting from Explosion
Just Thirty Minutes Earlier—Blast Shakes
All of Manhattan Island—Breaks Thousands of Heavy Plate Glass Windows.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Thirty three Jersey City firemen are reported to have been killed early this morning by a terrific explosion in the plant of the National Storage company on Black Tom Island near Communipaw, N. J., where they had gone to fight a fire resulting from a terrific explosion just thirty minutes earlier.

In the storage company plant are said to have been enormous quantities of ammunition consigned to the entente allies. The entire plant is reported to have been wrecked. The entire island appeared at 3:30 o'clock to be covered with a sheet of flame. Access to it is gained from the mainland by a bridge over which run tracks of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Sixty nine carloads of ammunition are said to have been stored on the railroad tracks on the island. All of them are believed to have been blown up.

Edmond MacKenzie, president of the National Storage company said at his home at Plainfield, N. J., at 3:30 o'clock this morning that he had just received a telegram informing him that a great fire was raging in the plant of his company following an explosion.

The plant of the storage company consists of about 25 warehouses and three or four covered piers one of which is a powder pier and Mr. MacKenzie explained that there were no combustibles in the warehouses. He expressed the belief from the meager information he had received that the explosion must have been in trains of munitions which had been run to the powder docks awaiting removal on lighters to ships anchored in the bay. He declared the plant was valued at about $7,000,000.

Dr. Joseph Wilson of the immigration hospital on Ellis Island reported to Man Hattan police headquarters at 3:45 this morning (Sunday) that two barges loaded with ammunition lying alongside the dock at Ellis Island were ablaze from stem to stern. He said they had drifted down the bay from the direction of Staten Island. Black Tom Island is about a quarter of the way from Ellis Island to Staten Island. The patients in the Ellis Island hospital were ordered transferred to another island of the Ellis Island group.

Explosions on the barges were occurring at frequent intervals although none of them was especially severe. The fire boat New York is standing by and efforts are being made to confine the flames to the barges.

The force of the explosion was so great that thousands of heavy plate glass windows in office buildings in lower Manhattan and Brooklyn were shattered. Streets for many blocks in the downtown section were literally strewn with broken glass.

Thousands Rush to Streets
Thousands of persons swarmed into the streets in all parts of the city running about in a panic. Many women became hysterical. Police whistles were blown frantically but the police themselves did not know what it all was about.

The first explosion was followed by a second at 2:30, slightly less violent. It again shook all New York and shattered many more windows.

Nearly all the fire apparatus in Brooklyn was called out in the belief that somewhere there was a great fire. No trace of one could be found. Police headquarters in all boroughs received reports of disasters of all kinds, both in the New York and New Jersey. One report was that an oil ship was blown up near the Statue of Liberty.

A report received at 12:40 a. m. was that several carloads of shrapnel consigned to the entente allies lying on the Black Tom where the Eagle Oil Works are located, had exploded. So far as known then no one was injured.

Brooklyn police headquarters reported that ten persons had been killed in an explosion in the subway at Washington street and Myrtle avenue but the report apparently was unfounded.

Police headquarters in Manhattan believe many thousands dollars of damage had been caused by the explosion. It was conjectured that combinations of vaults in the financial district might have been so seriously damaged that difficulty would be experienced in opening them.

The New York Telephone company announced at 2:38 that all telephone lines leading from New York to near by points in Jersey City were down and communication was almost impossible.

Flames Light Sky for Miles
Flames lighted the sky for miles around, apparently in the Black Tom district, near Communipaw, part of Jersey City.

There were persistent reports here that the immense Standard Oil plant at Bayonne had blown up but police headquarters in that city was reached at three o'clock and declared positively that the explosion had not been in Bayonne.

The thousands who had flocked to the streets after the first explosion were reinforced by thousands more after the second.

Men and children left their homes in their night clothes. Many declared they had been thrown out of bed by the force of the concussion which was felt even more severely in Brooklyn than in New York. Women who were in Brooklyn streets when the first explosion occurred were thrown to the pavement and many of them became almost crazed with fear.

Guests in the big uptown hotels ran frantically into the corridors when the windows in their rooms were shattered. Patients in all city hospitals were greatly alarmed and their attendants experienced much difficulty in quieting them. Prompt action was taken by the police to prevent looting in buildings which had been vacated by frightened tenants.

Elevated Trains Shaken.
Elevated trains crossing Brooklyn bridge and other bridges were shaken and many panes of glass in the cars were broken. The same was true of surface cars.

Panic was most pronounced among the dwellers in crowded east side tenements and many of those who hastened into the streets were cut by broken glass.

A series of less explosions were heard one after another in Brooklyn after the first two.

Fears for the safety of persons traveling beneath the North river in the tubes of the Hudson and Manhattan railroad company were set at rest soon after 3 o'clock by a report from the trainmasters' office in the Hudson Terminal building that the property of the company had not been damaged.

Observers at the battery and other points of vantage declared the flames which illuminated the Communipaw section of Jersey City seemed to emanate from one tremendous fire and scores of smaller ones.

STRIKE OF STREET RAILWAY MEN SPREADS TO MANHATTAN

NEW YORK, July 29.—The strike of motormen and conductors, which for several days has paralyzed surface car traffic in the Bronx and adjoining portions of Westchester county, spread to the lines of the Third avenue railway in Manhattan tonight.

Cars were stoned and there were scenes of disorder that the police apparently were unable to control for several hours. A temporary suspension of service was ordered but later an attempt was made to run cars with ununiformed police guards on board.

Pauline Cohen, 4 years old, was killed today by a car in the Bronx operated by strikebreakers. The motorman fled but was caught after a chase of several blocks, and a policeman was forced to draw his revolver to protect him from the mob.

PIRATES OBTAIN SCHULTE.

BAKER REPORTS ON GUARD TRANSPORTATION

STATES TROOP TRAINS WERE NOT SIDETRACKED UNREASONABLY

Report States Day Coaches Were Used Only in Cases Where It Was Not Practical to Delay—Slayden Commends Condition of Guardsmen.

Washington, July 29.—In response to house resolutions of inquiry Secretary Baker today made a report on the transportation of National Guardsmen to the border.

Secretary Baker says the guardsmen in some instances were transported in day coaches, but that no cars without lights were used and that troop trains were not sidetracked unreasonably. Regular army rations were more than sufficient for the journey were furnished all troops, he asserts, either on leaving mobilization camps or enroute.

The report says day coaches were used only in cases where, owing to the urgency of the situation and the large number of troops being moved at one time, it was not practical to delay. When day coaches were used, it explains, three men were assigned to four seats. Wherever it could be done, arrangements were made to transfer troops from day coaches to tourist sleepers.

The secretary reports that where cooking equipment was not placed on trains the men were furnished with money to buy hot coffee, the same as troops of the regular army are allowed under similar conditions.

Acting Quartermaster General Sharpe reported that to have moved all the troops in Pullman or tourist cars, would have required 3,000 cars. The Pullman company made available for the troops 80 percent of all tourist cars it owns.

Representative Slayden, who all thru the Mexican troubles has been one of the administration's critics for not using the guard on the border, spoke in the house today in commendation of the conditions of the guardsmen and conditions on the border generally.

"These troops," he said, "were moved in safety and comfort. If Pullman berths are to be supplied to all the men of the ever-increasing armies in all their movement, it is a new idea in campaigning. To pass two or three nights in an ordinary day coach one or twice in a lifetime is an endurable hardship and one that the great majority of our people undergo in their travels."

"Solicitous governors who are candidates again, seem to have forgotten the regulars, from whom no complaints have come."

STATE WILL APPEAL WATERWAY CASE TO THE SUPREME COURT

Circuit Court Gives Adverse Ruling On State's Demurrer To Bill by W. A. Hubbard Who Seeks to Prevent the Issuing of Bonds.

Springfield, Ill., July 29.—The Illinois supreme court will have an opportunity at its coming term to decide whether a canal eight feet deep is a "deep" waterway for Illinois. Following an adverse ruling today by Judge Norman L. Jones in the circuit court here on the State's demurrer to a bill by William A. Hubbard of Carrollton, who seeks to prevent the issuing of $5,000,000 in bonds for the waterway.

Members of the attorney general's staff who are handling the litigation for the state, declared the case would be appealed immediately. The supreme court's ruling on the demurrer will probably end the matter as there is no contention regarding the facts.

In 1915 the legislature passed an act authorizing the issuance of bonds to the extent of $5,000,000 which if the act is upheld will be part of the $20,000,000 bond issue for which the people at an election in 1908 gave their sanction. The proposition which the people voted for called for a "deep waterway".

The legislative act of 1915 provides specifically for a waterway eight feet deep. Hubbard contends this is not a "deep waterway" within the meaning of the proposition which the people voted for.

His contention is upheld by the circuit court's ruling, whose opinion states that the people had a definite idea of what a "deep waterway" was when they authorized a bond issue of $20,000,000 for its construction.

After reviewing the history of legislation for a deep waterway and examining the reports of engineers, commissioners, congress and the acts of the legislature, the court says it is driven to "the irresistible conclusion that the people meant a 14 foot waterway when they voted the bond issue."

CHARGE THREE WITH SWINDLING

Davenport, Iowa, July 29.—Three men were arrested here today at the request of W. H. Kearns, a wealthy farmer of Dunlap, Iowa, who told the police the men had swindled him out of $10,200 in a fake horse race wager. The men arrested are J. M. Reeves, R. H. Ward and John Brown. In their possession at the time of their arrest was found an aggregate of $2,400 in currency and checks aggregating thousands of dollars.

ASK PROTECTION FOR DEUTSCHLAND

Officials Rule No Extraordinary Precautions Can Be Ordered

SHIP MAY SAIL TODAY

Sub-Sea Freighter Lays Snuggled in Her Barricaded Berth All Ready for Start

TUG CLOSE BY WITH STEAM UP

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Special protection for the German submarine Deutschland when she starts out of American territorial waters was asked of the American government late today with the intimation that the boat would leave Baltimore sometime tomorrow. After conferences between state treasury and navy department officials it was ruled that no extraordinary precautions could be ordered, because the United States views the Deutschland as an ordinary merchantman. It is understood that the application for protection was made thru the collector of customs at Baltimore and that Captain Koening, the submarine commander, desired a coast guard cutter or naval vessel to escort him down Chesapeake Bay, and to the three mile limit. Unless steps are taken to prevent it, the submarine probably will be followed out by a fleet of small craft carrying newspaper correspondents, photographers and sightseers.

Officials of the state department held that while American neutrality must be fully safeguarded, it would be a bad precedent for the government to convoy or accord any other unusual attention to a vessel which can be regarded only as a merchantman.

Precautions already have been taken to see that the submarine is not molested within the three mile limit. Since the reported incursion of a British cruiser between the Virginia Capes last week, the armored Cruiser North Carolina and three destroyers have been patrolling off Cape Henry.

Freighter Ready to Start
Baltimore, Md., July 28.—The German sub-sea freighter Deutschland which arrived at this port from Germany three weeks ago tomorrow night, with a cargo of dyestuffs, lay snuggled in her barricaded berth at Locust Point tonight all ready to start on her perilous homeward journey. The tug Thomas Timmens, which met the Deutschland at the Virginia Capes and conveyed her to Baltimore was close by with steam up.

Officials of the Eastern Forwarding company, the submersible's American agents refused to comment on the Washington dispatch concerning the probability of her sailing tomorrow or the intimation that protection was desired for the Deutschland in the American waters. That they are concerned about the boat's safety during her run down the Chesapeake Bay seemed to be indicated in a report that it is planned to have a second tug accompany the submarine and the Timmens as far as the capes to guard against the possibility of accidents enroute.

One of the Deutschland's navigating officers and several of the crew were on shore leave tonight with orders it was said to return aboard ship by midnight.

The mercury rose to 101 Saturday, according to G. H. Hall, U. S. weather observer at Alexander, and the predictions for today are generally fair with continued high temperature. ### PREDICT RELIEF FROM HEAT BY TUESDAY

FAIR AND CONTINUED HIGH TEMPERATURE PROMISED FOR TODAY

Deaths in Chicago Attributed To Heat Reach 46, Bringing the Total For the Present Spell To 130—Sprinkle Streets in Every Part of City.

Chicago, July 29.—Nearly the entire middle west sweltered thru another day of hundred degree weather and tonight most sections received the prediction of fair and continued high temperature for tomorrow. The high barometric pressure area, which the local government forecaster says will bring some relief from the heat and drought, tonight passed over Montana heading for the St. Lawrence Valley. It will reach the Mississippi Valley and Northern Plain states Monday or Tuesday, he said, unless it veers further north.

The mercury at Grand Rapids, Michigan, reached 102 degrees today and at Grand Haven a lake summer resort, 95 degrees.

Davenport, Iowa, experienced 104 degrees weather and Marquette 102 degrees. The government weather bureau thermometers registered 100 degrees at Green Bay, Wis., Des Moines, Iowa, Dubuque, Iowa, Keokuk, Iowa, and Alpena Michigan.

At ten o'clock tonight the mercury stood at 90 degrees in Chicago. In an effort to cool the streets, fire Marshall Thomas O'Connor ordered the commanding officers of all fire engine companies to detail three men from each company to sprinkle streets and sidewalks in every part of the city. This is the first time such an order has been issued here.

At that hour the deaths attributed to the heat today in reports to the police and coroner had reached 46 bringing the total for the present spell in Chicago to 130.

WILSON AT FORTRESS MONROE ABOARD NAVAL YACHT MAYFLOWER

President Probably Will Start For Washington in Time to Reach There Monday Morning.

Fortress Monroe, Va., July 29.—President Wilson arrived here this afternoon on the naval yacht Mayflower. The yacht anchored in the roads and the President did not come ashore.

Soon after the Mayflower arrived the armored Cruiser North Carolina, which has been patrolling outside the capes on neutrality duty steamer in and dropped anchor within hailing distance. There followed a long exchange of messages between Fortress Monroe, the Mayflower and the North Carolina, wig-wagging continuing until darkness when lights were substituted.

It is said that the president has no definite plans but probably will remain in this vicinity until tomorrow night and start for Washington in time to reach there Monday morning. About 9 o'clock tonight two of the three destroyers which have been of the entrance of Chesapeake Bay with the North Carolina came into the roads and joined in the signaling.

The Mayflower made the trip to Hampton roads by easy stages down the bay. The President and his party saw several large sharks in the wake of the yacht as she passed thru the lower bay.

Mr. Wilson has spent many hours of the cruise with his stenographer, disposing of a quantity of work, including a part of his speech accepting the Democratic nomination for the Presidency.

DECIDES QUESTIONS ABOUT STATUS OF STATE TROOPS IN SERVICE

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Questions about the status of state troops called into the federal service for the Mexican emergency, are decided in an exhaustive opinion given Secretary Baker by Brigadier General Crowder, judge advocate general of the army. General Crowder holds that the state soldiers are not subject to duty outside of the United States unless and until they are formally drafted by order of the president; that they are under control of the federal government and not of their respective state governments, and that they are entitled to the same pensions and privileges as regulars.

While congress by joint resolution has conferred upon the president, authority to draft the militia and national guard in his discretion, the general points out that the president has not exercised that authority. In the meantime, he says, the status of the state troops "is that of militia called into the service of the United States for one of the purposes specified in the constitution, that is, to protect the United States from invasion."

FRENCH REPULSE ATTACKS

Armies of the entente allies continue to hammer the lines of the central powers on all European fields. On the western front the British and French are holding back German forces and British troops have made additional progress on the hard fought Somme battle ground.

Russian forces on the eastern front continue their successful drives against the Austro-German lines. With Brody in their hands the Russians report little or no activity in Northern Galicia. In southern Galicia the Muscovite armies are pushing forward toward Stanilau, and important railroad center.

While admitting the Russian penetration of the Teutonic lines northwest of Lutsk, Austria declares that the advance west of Lutsk has been stopped by a counter-attack.

Petrograd claims the capture of more than 20,000 Austro-Germans in the recent fighting in northern Galicia and Volhynia.

According to estimates of Russian army officers, the number of prisoners taken in the first half of the present campaign by the Russians totals 350,000. The same authorities estimate Austro-German losses including killed at 800,000.

North of the Somme, in France, the British have gained some ground in the vicinity of Pozieres and the high wood. The British have beaten off German attacks against Delville wood and the French have stopped German attacks at Verdunvillers south of the Somme.

Fighting also continues around Verdun. German attacks on both the right and left banks of the Meuse have been repulsed Paris asserts. French troops continue their advance near the Thiaumont work.

There has been no great change on the Austro-Italian front nor on the Saloniki front where the Serbian troops began an offensive several days ago. In the Caucasus the Russian advance against Kharput and Sivas, the present objectives of Grand Duke Nicholas continues successfully Petrograd asserts.

Presidential Leadership.

A writer in the August World's Work declares that Mr. Wilson's great contribution to American politics is his conception of presidential leadership both in the executive and the legislative branches. A study of the president's record reveals that he has held the whip hand in a very wonderful way and has brought about party action which other leaders thought could not be accomplished. There are occasional times when the ideas of a president should dominate congress and when as the head of the nation he is entitled to the loyal support of every member of congress. Yet it is very questionable as to the proper extent of presidential leadership and there are many people in the U. S. who do not believe that it is the duty or the function of a president to spend much time endeavoring to force congress into carrying out the presidential ideas.

Figures Tell Remarkable Story

A great tribute to the commercial strength of Great Britain is found in a study of U. S. export and import figures. The surprising fact is revealed by this study that notwithstanding the great burden of the war, England during eleven months of the fiscal year which ended in May controlled American markets to the extent of $276,000,000, $7,000,000 more than for a similar period in 1914. Yet all the credit should not be given the English leaders for they were enabled to make this very remarkable record largely because of the Underwood tariff law.

Experts declare that this law is just about ten per cent better than absolute free trade. The fact should be remembered that while carrying on this great amount of business with America, Great Britain has been the chief financier of the European war, has carried more than $5,000,000 men under arms, many of her industries have been engaged solely in producing war munitions, and a large portion of the merchants marine has been devoted to the transportation of the munitions. It is a sorrowful thing to even contemplate what would have happened to business and to wage earners had there been no war. For with a wage scale equal to about half that paid by the U. S. under the favorable tariff law, England would have been pushing U. S. textile factories clear out of business.

Every month the state utilities commission files a bulletin. It is of eight pages and in each issue three or four pages in very small type contain the cases docketed. The number of these cases gives some indication of the vast scope of the duties and powers of the commission.

A LITTLE CHANGE

My wife keeps busy round the the shack; she work until she strains her back; she cleans the dishes and the spoon, she darns the shirts and cooks the prunes, she molds the pies and bakes the bread, and sends the nineteen kids to bed. And every now and then I say, "You've had a long and weary day, so let us don our lids and go to see the moving picture show. Or let us seek the ice cream joint, and our insides with cream anoint. Put on your farthingale, by Belle, and let us go to yon hotel, and buy our dinner for a change, and eat it in surroundings strange." Then Susan Bellen puts on a smile, and sings around the coop awhile, and bids farewell to cars that cark, and says she's happy as a lark. Some small attentions, such as these, the faded frau are bound to please. They lift a burden from her mind, and they relieve the weary grind. I know so many working wives who might have sunshine in their lives, if their Old Men would only say, "You've had a hard and dreary day, so let us go, on eager feet, and see the dogfight down the street."

DATES IN ILLINOIS HISTORY.

July 30, 1780—A French officer, Colonel de la Balme, was attempting to arouse the French settlers in the Ohio and Upper Mississippi Valleys to make an attack on the British post of Detroit.

While people have realized in a general way that the duties of the former railway and warehouse commission and a great many more duties resulting from the utilities commission law were all given to the commission, to understand fully the commission's powers is a matter of development. There must be a constantly increasing number of employees or the commission will be hopelessly buried beneath the work. An example of the great variety of questions which must come before the commission is contained in the statement that the Illinois branch of the Traveling Men's Protective association has filed a complaint with the commission against the railroads of Illinois asking a reduction in the minimum excess baggage rates to the scale now operative in Indiana. The rates charged by railroads in Illinois is 12 1/2 per cent of the passenger fare, with a minimum charge of 15c. In Indiana the charges are similar but there is no minimum rate in force. While the delays in securing rulings on questions which come before the commission are sometimes annoying and complainants become restive, it is not at all surprising when all facts are considered and it is realized what a vast and increasing volume of business is coming before the commission.

The Chautauqua.

The next big local attraction is the Chautauqua. The management promises a program of unusual merit. The attractions booked are all the best to be had and include lecturers and music of international reputation. The entertainment features are numerous and all first class. A number of new things will be attempted this year. The program of each evening will conclude with motion pictures and this feature will not only add to the pleasure of the assembly but will also help avoid the congestion of the street cars and on the highways. Arrangements are under way to oil the roads leading to the park so that there will be no dust. There will be plenty of the pure Gravel Springs water on the grounds for the free use of everyone.

No other Chautauqua anywhere furnishes a ten day assembly, even of mediocre talent, for less than two dollars. Many six day chautauqua charge two dollars for season tickets and these often will not compare in quality with our assembly. The management of the Jacksonville Chautauqua take the position that it is of a great community effort to furnish clean, wholesome instructive entertainment and recreation for all the people and have held the prices of tickets to the lowest possible price at which they could furnish the best attractions. The Chautauqua is a great company in which every ticket subscriber is or should be interested. The directors serve without pay—they even pay for their own admission tickets—and give much time and energy to the arduous and long continued task of promoting the affair.

Last year subscriptions were taken for over four thousand tickets. It is a hard and expensive job to send these tickets out for collection. Subscribers to tickets are presumed to call on the Secretary and take up their tickets. If they will do this promptly it will help the busy directors out very much and will show them that the public appreciates their efforts. Every subscriber should as soon as convenient take up his tickets.

Reviews of the War.

There is much that is interesting in the reviews of the European war presented from the standpoints of England and Germany which appear elsewhere in this paper. Sir Gilbert Parker writes for the English and the German estimate comes from a naval authority in Berlin. While the German writer gives due credit to the German navy for its accomplishments and prowess, there is an underlying tone of conservatism and it is very clear that the writer is not in any boasting spirit. Quite in contrast to some other statements from German sources, this writer admits that England still has the most powerful navy in the world and suggests that the German people should not be too jubilant about what has been accomplished but rather to think of the greatness of the task which confronts them in England is to be conquered. Sir Gilbert Parker's statement is not in such conservative vein and while admitting certain points of error or weakness, the great author brings out in a new light the wisdom and foresight which English leaders have displayed in their conduct of the war. Incidentally some facts are revealed which the world at large has not fully realized or appreciated.

England when the war began was manifestly in a marked state of unpreparedness and when the facts are considered the advances made in the facilities for the manufacturing of munitions are marvelous, indeed. The business foresight shown by the English is merely characteristic and people will not be as much surprised now that they understand how shrewdly the government early planned to seize great supplies of sugar and other necessities as they were surprised originally when it was thought that England in the first alarm of the war neglected those important preparations. As already stated, the two reviews which are briefly told by comparison with the great subject discussed, are of great interest to those who are following the progress of the war.

40 dozen good style straw, Panama, Leghorn, and Bankok summer hats for men are now shown by FRANK BYRNS Hat Store.

Miss Elsie Harmon of El Paso, Tex., was a visitor in the city Saturday. She was on her way to her home in Rantoul, Ill.

WAVERLY PEOPLE DISCUSS ELECTRIC RATES

Public Service Company Superintendent Visited Town For Two Conferences With Officials.

The people of Waverly have not yet come to an agreement with the Central Illinois Public Service company with reference to the rates to be charged there. D. F. Tucker, general superintendent for the company, was in Waverly Friday and a special session of the town board was held in the afternoon and another one at night. The company proposes to furnish electricity on a commercial basis for 13c for the first 30 hours of service, 7c for the next 60 hours of service, and 4c for service all over that amount. The rate proposed for residences is 13c for the first 30 hours and 7c for service beyond that amount. The company is willing to change the minimum charge from $1 to 75c. If the people are unwilling to accept these rates the company offers the so-called Jerseyville schedule, which has the approval of the state utility commission. While the conferences held Friday did not bring specific results, good feeling prevailed and both the company and the board members are hopeful that some agreement will be reached.

There has been some little talk of the possibility of erecting a municipal plant but it is realized that in a town the size of Waverly that this would be a questionable project.

CIRCUIT COURT CASE

In the circuit court a bill of interpleader was filed by Col. William N. Hairgrove in the case of the Bankers Life association against Helen Willerton Seymour et al. The suit is for the purpose of securing a court order for the payment of a $2,000 policy on the life of the late William Willerton. When the policy was taken out it was made payable to his heirs and subsequently a statement was signed by the deceased directing the payment of the policy to Helen W. Seymour, Kate W. Murgatroyd and George Willerton. It is understood that they are the only heirs, but in view of all the papers in the case not being available the insurance company determined that the bill of interpleader was desirable in order to make absolutely certain as to whom the money should be paid.

We are thankful there are only two more days of July left.

We wonder if a Bermuda High is a relation to a Scotch highball.

Old General Humidity seems to be holding the center of the stage at the present time.

Do your canning early is the advice housewives are getting these days. The same advice is being given to voters and it is probable that considerable canning will be done throughout the state on Sept. 13.

We note that the United States senate is entering a protest against the sending out of garden seed by congressmen to constituents. The senators say that it is a useless expense and is of little value. We are of the opinion that we would rather receive several packages of garden seed than to get several pamphlets of speeches of certain senators which are never delivered. It would seem that you can use garden seed but the pamphlets of speeches do not even make good kindling to light the kitchen fire.

The death of James Whitecomb Riley, the Hoosier poet brought sorrow to the entire nation. Throughout the whole United States many tributes were written to his memory. Given hereunder are three poems, two are tributes, one by Wilbur D. Nesbit and one by W. M. Herschell. The other is the last verse Mr. Riley wrote. They are deemed worthy of reproduction and are well worth a place in your scrap book.

Children, tread softly in Lockerbie street,
Some one you loved now lies slumbering there;
Some one who loved you in comradeship sweet
Rests at the foot of Eternity's Stair.

Voices kept calling him out of The Past,
Voices all fondly familiar to him;
Then came the one—he must answer at last—
Dear Old Aunt Mary was calling her Jim!

Where is he gone? The lengthening miles
Have lured him to the afterworlds
And there he fares down aisles of bloom
That thrill the air with their perfume;
Yet still his song forever sings—
This man who sang of common things.

Aye, he was brother to the brooks,
Had kinship with the forest nooks,
And caught the vibrant rhyme of truth
That lines the laughing lips of Youth:
Age found him not: his heart had wings—
This man who sang of common things.

The rose adrip with honeydew,
The silvered clouds against the blue,
The friendly trees, and wind-swept grass
Gave hail to him when he would pass;
His were the summers and the springs—
This man who sang of common things.

Deep-shrined within the homefolks' heart
Is held his simple, humble art
Which glorified the everyday
And gave us joy along the way
To free our souls of scars and stings—
This man who sang of common things.

The golden song of heaven is
A poem built of souls like his,
Whose gentle songs were fashioned of God's light, and laughter, life and love.
Where is he gone? The lengthening miles
Have lured him to the afterworlds.
—Wilbur D. Nesbit.

MR. RILEY'S LAST POEM

The accompanying poem, "To George A. Carr," was written by Mr. Riley July 21, 1914. Mr. Carr was an old boyhood friend of Mr. Riley, and when he died the poet composed the following beautiful tribute to him:

O playmate of the far-away
And dear delights of boyhood's day,
And friend and comrade true and tried
Thru length of years of life beside,
I bid you thus a fond farewell
Too deep for words or tears to tell.

But tho I lose you, nevermore
To greet you at the open door;
To grasp your hand or see your smile,
I shall be thankful all the while
Because your love and loyalty
Have made a happier world for me.

So rest you, Playmate, in that land
Still hidden from us by His Hand,
Where you may know again in truth
All of the glad days of your youth—
As when in days of endless ease
We played beneath the apple trees.

COSTLY PAGEANT

Million-Dollar Street Parade To Be Seen With Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus.

When the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus visits Jacksonville, Wednesday Aug. 16, there will be seen on the down-town streets the day of the exhibition a street parade that represents an expenditure of more than $1,000,000. It is entirely the origination and execution of the best artists, designers and property masters of Italy, England and France.

It is the policy of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus never to repeat its novelties. For that reason the parade for this season is entirely new. For months, day and night, artists, artisans and decorators toiled like Trojans in the European workshops, Hamburg, Germany, to build the parade which is this year amazing the cities of America.

Not in any way does the street parade resemble the pageants of the past. It fairly glistens with newness. There are floats of burnished gold made by Oriental workmen, costumes and tapestries from France and Persia, flags and banners from China, statuary from Italy, band and orchestra wagons of bronze, hand-carved and decorated with pure burnished gold. Almost every type of man will be seen in native dress and the characteristic music of the world is represented by trumpeting brass bands, chanters, bagpipers, tom tom players, drum, fife and bugle corps. The great menagerie, the pride of Carl Hagenbeck, is shown in open dens.

The performance this year, too, has undergone many changes. The stellar attraction remains the performance of the famed Carl Hagenbeck trained wild animals. These beasts of the forest and jungle will be seen in an immense steel arena. Daring wild animal-trainers have them broken to perform remarkable tricks. More than 400 arene performers will be seen in the circus, performing in three rings and on two elevated stages. Performance will be given at 2 and 8 p. m. Doors to the Hagenbeck zoo will be opened an hour earlier.

FRAUDULENT INFANTILE PARALYSIS "CURES"

The Department of Agriculture instructs Food and Drug Inspectors to Watch Interstate and Foreign Shipments for Fraudulent Remedies.

Washington, D. C., July 29.—Officials of the Department of Agriculture charged with the enforcement of the Food and Drug Act expect that the outbreak of infantile paralysis will tempt unscrupulous persons to offer for sale so-called "cures" or remedies for this dread malady. They therefore have issued special instructions to the Food and Drug inspectors to be particularly alert for interstate shipments or importations of medicines, the makers of which allege that they will cure or alleviate this disease, for which, at the present time, no medicinal cure is known. The officials also warn the public that any preparation put on the market and offered for sale as being effective for the treatment of infantile paralysis should be looked upon with extreme suspicion. Inspectors, accordingly have been instructed to regard as suspicious, and to collect samples of, all medicines in interstate commerce for which such claims are made. Makers of such fraudulent remedies will be vigorously prosecuted whenever the evidence warrants action under the Sherman Amendment to the Food and Drug Act. So-called remedies for infantile paralysis which are offered for import into the country will be denied entry.

The Food and Drug officials are particularly watchful in this instance because it has been noted in the past that whenever a serious epidemic exists, unscrupulous dealers prey upon the fear or ignorance of the public by flooding the market with worthless, hastily prepared concoctions, for which they assert curative properties which have no foundation whatever in fact. In the present instance, inspectors already have discovered shipments of a few such mixtures.

The Department will do everything it can under Federal law to protect that portion of the public which is extremely credulous in times of panic and which grasp at anything which promises protection or relief. The sale of such products at this time, the officials point out, is particularly threatening to the public health because many persons, relying on the false statements of impostors, neglect to secure competent medical advice. As a result, not only is the safety of the patient endangered, but in the absence of proper sanitary precautions the likelihood of contagion is greatly increased.

It must be understood, however, that the Federal Food and Drug Act applies only to products which are shipped in interstate commerce, that is, from one state to another, or which are offered for import or export, or which are manufactured or sold within a territory or the District of Columbia. Products which are made and consumed wholly within a single state are subject only to such state laws as may apply and are under the control only of state health officials. The Federal law does not apply, for instance, to patent medicines made within the state of New York and sold in New York City. Persons buying or using a "remedy" made in their own state, therefore, must rely on the protection accorded them by their local health authorities.

GERMANS PROUD OF RECORD MADE BY THE NAVY

Declare Result of North Sea Battle Was Victory for Them—Realize That England Is Still Greatest Sea Power.

Berlin, July 29.—Captain Persius, the naval critic of the Berliner Tageblatt, has written the following review of naval operations during the second year of the war, from the German viewpoint, for The Associated Press:

"It seemed likely that the second year of the war would end without a sea fight of the first magnitude but May 31 brought a gratifying proof that our great battleships were not built in vain and that our fleet, despite seeming inactivity, was quietly and assiduously preparing itself or a blow against the strongest sea power in the world. We still hear the question asked: as to who was the real victor in the fight off Skagerrak. A comparison of the clear concise reports of the German Admiralty Staff with Admiral Jellicoe's long-winded reports which contain only a few facts, leaves no doubt that the German official account gives a thoroughly truthful description of the battle. The English version, with its barrenness of facts, labors vainly to conceal the improbability.

"Whatever the final judgment is of the battle in detail the loss of British prestige at sea and the pronounced success of our fleet remain indisputable if only the British losses in men and ships are considered. The waves of the North Sea swallowed 6,164 British seamen and 117,150 gross registered tons of shipping while the German losses were 2,414 men and 60,729 tons. These figures were officially published on both the German and British sides.

Proud of Navy's Work.
"Numberless authorities both hostile and neutral, have expressed opinions on the battle but the German people will not permit themselves to be influenced by any foreign judgment. They understand alone how proud they may be of a navy whose quality and honor have stood the test of battle with the strongest sea power. They know that Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg rightly expressed the general sentiment in his speech in the Reichstag on June 5 when he said: 'This victory too shall not make us vain-glorious. We know that England is not subdued or conquered by this battle.'

"By the side of the battle of the Skagerrak the other events in the second year of the war, navally speaking, pale into insignificance. In the first year the activity of German submarines aroused general astonishment. In the second year their activity was largely circumscribed but nevertheless their successes in war upon commerce were considerable in comparison with those of the first year.

"On the other hand the destruction of warships by submarines occurred but seldom. The U-27 destroyed an English protected cruiser in the North Sea on August 10, 1915. Another of our boats sank the French armored cruiser Admiral Charrier in the eastern Mediterranean on February 8, 1916. A number of minor war vessels were also sunk.

"English submarines did some damage to German commerce in the Baltic and succeeded in torpedoing several of our warships like the armored cruiser Prince Adalbert, October 23; Undine, November 7 and Bremen, December 17.

Aircraft Accomplishments.

"Special attention is merited by the bold flights of our marine aircraft and their important scout work in the North Sea and Baltic. Attacks were made against fortified places on England's east coast and the English were able to destroy only two German airships, No. 15 on April 1 and No. 7 on May 4. Within a few hours our airships were able to reconnoitre the entire North Sea and they did valuable service in the battle off Skagerrak. Marine aeroplanes also did excellent work and especially distinguished themselves in the Baltic where they were of the utmost value in various ways. On several occasions they were able even to take the offensive with success, damaging warships with bombs and capturing merchantmen.

"In the Black Sea and the Mediterranean German submarines, working with those of Austria-Hungary, operated successfully in war against commerce and destroyed numerous transports laden with troops and war material. In the Black Sea the Yawuz Sultan Selim, formerly the German cruiser Goeben and the Midulla, formerly the German cruiser Breslau, bombarded Russian fortified towns on the Crimean coast at various times and damaged Russian commerce.

"The glorious deeds of several German auxiliary cruisers remain to be mentioned. The Moewe, under the command of Count Von Dohna, made a successful raid into the Atlantic in January and February. The Appam, one of the steamers captured by it, carried the passengers and crew of other captured merchantmen to the United States under the command of Lieutenant Berg. The Moewe herself made her home port safely on March 4 laden with booty.

Looking Forward.

"On the threshold of the third year of the war it remains to be pointed out that the German navy has hitherto fulfilled its chief task of keeping the enemy from German coasts and, beyond this, has scored a series of successes that have exceeded our most sanguine expectations. The German people, do not ignore the fact that British sea-power still dominates the seas but nevertheless they look with confidence upon their navy. ### USE TOO MUCH WATER

Newport, R. I., July 29.—Because they use too much water and too little soap, women do not get the same dazzling whiteness in their washed clothes as do the United States Marines. Sergeant Clarence D. Rhoades, of the Marine Corps, told a party of society women visiting the battleship Utah today.

"The eye-painful brilliance of our white clothes is due to the fact that we wash with our heads as well as our hands, and we let soap do its proper share of the work. Just enough water to thoroughly wet the wash is sufficient," the sergeant continued, "and the less water and more soap one uses the whiter the washing will turn out."

DODGE WINS ILLINOIS JOCKEY CLUB'S GOLD CUP HANDICAP

CHICAGO, July 29.—Dodge of the Weber and Wad stables, ridden by Murphy won the Illinois Jockey Club's gold cup handicap and a $2,000 additional stake in the race today which closed the thirteen day meeting at the Hawthorne track. His time for the mile and 1-6 was 1:45 3-5.

Franklin of the same stables ridden by Andrews was second and Leo Skolney of the Mackenzie string ridden by Byrne was third. These were the only starters.

The first race of Get-away day was marred by a spill as a result of which "Just Red" was shot and his rider, A. Hack was seriously injured.

The meet was an experiment looking toward the revival of racing here and tonight Secretary Biofield of the Illinois Jockey Club said the prospects for another meet in the fall were good.

ASHLAND COMES TODAY

Jacksonville will look up with the Ashland Blues at Nichols Park this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. For the last four years Ashland has had one of the strongest independent teams in Central Illinois and this year is no exception. Ashland had a series of five games booked with Beards-town and the first was played last Sunday. While Ashland lost Beards-town said Ashland had the better team and cancelled the remaining games. This resulted in Jacksonville being able to book the team for today. The teams will line up as follows:

Ashland—Kiley 2b, Shean ss, Tate cf, Burns K, Wilson 3b, Sambo rf, Caswell 1b, Riffler c, Hartman or Leahy p.

Jacksonville—Denny 2b, Fernandes ss, DeFrates 3b, Clark c, Wheeler 1b, McCollister cf, Christopher lf, Woodman rf, White p, Cannon, Chrisman utility.

BYFORD WINS TITLE

Chicago, July 29.—Heath Byford won the Illinois State Turf court tennis championship here today by defeating Walter Hayes, 7-3, 6-2, 6-3. Both players live in Chicago.

WALLEN WINS SWIM

Chicago, July 29.—William L. Wallen, 18 year old representative of the Hamilton Club won the eighth annual two mile Chicago river swim here today covering the distance in 34 minutes fifteen seconds.

Altho it gets them nothing, Cleveland fans may find a little comfort in the old wheeze about "it's better to have been there once than never to have been there at all."

Fred Luderus, the Phillies' first baseman, is said to hit the ball as hard as any man in the game. But the fielders won't allow Fred to hit 'em out far enough.

Captain Johnny Evers of the Braves would lead a fairly happy existence if it wasn't for baseball league presidents, baseball umpires and such.

CONSTITUTE RE-L FEATURE

Anglo-French 5s Change Hands to the Extent of Almost $1,000,000—New French Notes are Traded in to a Total of Almost $500,000.

New York, July 29.—Dealings were at an irreducible minimum in the stock market today, the total barely approximating 100,000 shares. Of this amount the usual leaders like United States Steel, mercantile marine, Mexican Petroleum and a few equipments and industrials made up more than 50 per cent.

Many standard stocks were not recorded at all and gains of 1 to 3 points in issues of the character of New York Airbrake and American Car were without the slightest influence. Rails were almost motionless with some irregular changes. In point of activity and importance, international bond issues constituted the real feature of the day.

Anglo-French 5s changed hands to the extent of almost $1,000,000 mostly at 95 1/2 and the new French notes were traded in to a total of almost $500,000, all at 98 the subscription price at which this issue seems to be "pegged."

Gold bank conditions were strengthened by a further small cash gain and increase in reserves, but the clearing house statement lacked especial feature.

Total sales of bonds par value were $2,450,000. United States 3s and Panama 2s advanced 1/4, Panama 3s 1/4 and United States 2s declined 1/4 percent on call during the week.

INCREASING RECEIPTS GIVES ADVANTAGE TO BEARS IN WHEAT

Market Closes Weak 1/2 to 1 1/2 Cents Net Lower—Scattered Showers tend to Ease Deferred Options of Corn.

Chicago, July 29.—Increasing receipts from the winter crop region, together with predictions of slightly cooler weather in the northwest gave an advantage today to the bears in wheat, largely in consequence the market closed weak, 1/2 to 1 1/2c net lower with September at $1.21@1.21 1/2 and December at $1.24 1/2@1.25.

In corn the outcome varied from 1c decline to a like advance, oats finished 1/2 to 3/4c down, and provisions up 5c to 10c@12c, except July pork which showed a nominal setback of 70c. Elevators in Kansas were asserted to be full to the roofs and there was gossip also that in general the quality of the new wheat was fine. The outlook for somewhat lower temperatures northwest tended further to handicap the bulls.

Scattered showers in the southwest tended to ease the deferred options of corn. The July delivery however, remained tight.

Oats were bearishly affected by reports of excellent conditions for the harvest. Threshing was expected to be in progress on a decidedly more liberal scale next week. Provisions averaged higher with hogs.

NASHVILLE BISHOP 75 YEARS OLD

Nashville, Tenn., July 29.—Rev. Thomas Sebastian Byrne, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Nashville, was the recipient of many congratulations today on the occasion of his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary. The venerable bishop is known as one of the most learned prelates of the church in America and is the author of many books and pamphlets on religious subjects. He was born at Hamilton, O., and received his early education at the famous seminary at Bardonia, Ky., completing his theological studies at the North American College in Rome. Previous to becoming bishop of Nashville in 1894 he had served for many years as rector of St. Mary's Seminary of the West.

William Charleston was in the city Saturday from Bloomington. He is on his way to Des Moines, Iowa, where he has taken a position as traveling salesman for a firm in Bloomington with headquarters in Des Moines, Iowa.

FORMER JACKSONVILLE MAN WRITES ABOUT BORDER AFFAIRS

E. A. Wickemeyer Says Texas Is A Big Hot Country—Sighs For Some Things in the North.

A. E. Wickemeyer, who is now in Houston, Tex., is well known to a great many Jacksonville people, especially traveling men. For two years Mr. and Mrs. Wickemeyer made Jacksonville their place of residence, but some months ago Mr. Wickemeyer was assigned to territory in the south west and moved to Houston. Recently Mr. Wickemeyer decided to write a letter to members of local lodge 182 of the U. C. T. Then it occurred to him to send a letter to the Journal for publication, and he has written in the following interesting vein:

"As usual when our throats are with those persons, and of things which are dear to us, we cannot help recalling incidents, and casual remarks which have been lying dormant, sentiment is aroused, and immediately these dormant thoughts awaken, and result in action. This sentiment has been working on both Mrs. Wick and myself very forcibly for some time, in fact the hot weather brought it on, very suddenly.

"Thinking how only a few months ago, we spoke of the U. C. T. boys hitting the trail so faithfully, plowing the snow and slush, and we were down here, basking amid flowers and sunshine. Well, that is now a sweet memory, we are up against the stern realities of the Southland. If I ever get back to the North, and want to wish a man the worst possible punishment, I am going to change the wording and suggest that he go to Texas (in the Summer.)

"The native Texan acts and does things on a large scale, it is true, they have a large state, large cities, they have the largest and finest hotels in the country, more rattle snakes, wild horses and cattle, the finest roads, but they do admit that it's hot. Mrs. Wickemeyer said last Sunday, when it was 105 in the shade, that six feet of snow would look mighty good to her. I here and now recall a statement I often made while in Jacksonville, that I did not care if I never saw snow again.

"While in North Dakota last fall, I was surprised at the bigness of the country, here in Texas I cannot conceive distance, many of you perhaps do not know that one can travel across Texas on a good train, for two days and nights, and still be in the state. Some of you inveterate Hickory players would be at a loss to know what to do, for card playing is prohibited by law, in any public place. Dominoes is the popular game, some of you will smile at this, yet if you will watch the game in a domino parlor, you will wonder at the science connected therewith.

"Texas in some localities is a barren waste, in making the trip from Laredo to Corpus Christi recently, I saw nothing in the nine hour run, but cactus sage brush and Negro huts. A few weeks ago while in Laredo, I crossed the International bridge and went into Mexico. Those who live on the border seem to discourage the idea of crossing, after the immigration officer made the examination, as to vaccination, I took the chance.

One cannot imagine that such a different mode of living could exist just across a river. The streets are very narrow in Nuevo Laredo, many families were eating their meals in the gutter.

The poorest store in Jacksonville would compare favorably with the best in Nuevo Laredo.

"None of the men seem to work, they are apparently quiet, look slouchy and one cannot but think them treacherous. On returning I gave the bridge man fifteen cents toll; in change he handed me a Dollar (One Peso) and seven return checks. Carranza money.

"Laredo is the second largest Immigration Station in the U. S. About five hundred cross here daily. I was much interested in the work at the U. S. I. S. One cannot help feeling sorry for those who fail to pass the officers, either on account of some infection, or not having the necessary money required. The officer merely calls to the bridge man "Hot out," and back he goes.

"They stand in line with their sleeves rolled up, to be vaccinated, the doctor makes a slight abrasion, and they pass into the U. S. Things were quite uneasy at Brownsville, last week, at least I felt so. The Rio Grande is only a few hundred feet wide here and hip deep. I sat on the porch of the U. S. I. S. and saw the Mexican soldiers maneuvering, it made quite a thrill go thru me, as I sat there last Thursday evening, and heard the Post band playing a concert on our side, and the Mexican band playing on their side; then, when nine o'clock came, the bugle call sounded just during a lull. I want to say, that at no time during the present crisis, did I appreciate the gravity of the situation more. I had been mingling with officers and soldiers at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, while our men were unloading White Trucks and it became second nature to see them, but when one sees the rebels not half a mile away, it's different.

"Brig. General Parker sat at the table next to me at the hotel. I heard him tell his wife that he had to find storage room for four million rounds of ammunition. That remark connected with the sound of the Tramp Tramp of the troops as they marched past, made me study the R. R. time table.

"Here at Brownsville the Mexicans cross on small ferry boats to do their shopping. There are no visible means of support in Matamoros, and should their entrance into the U. S. be shut off, they will be in want. It must be remembered however that he Mexicans can live on almost nothing. The custom officer allowed me to look on, as he was examining the contents of a sack for export. Contents showed a supply of coarser food stuff, which the father said would last his family of six about a month, at a cost of $4.75.

"The International bridge is heavily guarded. I was on this bridge only three hours before the Mexicans began tearing it up. The Texas Rangers are a body of men selected for size and good shot, who are not responsible to any one for any punishment which they inflict. The Mexicans makes his boast that he can lick U. S. if they will remove the Ranger. Almost all civilians in South Texas are armed, many business places where I called, the men were working with a gun within easy reach.

"San Antonio is a beautiful city, and quaint in many ways. Their business section is very congested, having very narrow streets, the only relief from the hot sun are the permanent awnings built over the sidewalks. About twenty five thousand Mexicans live in San Antonio. They live in one section of the town, and the city is trying to retain the original quaintness. This, together with its many old mission ruins, dating back to the sixteenth century, and ten miles of river, whose banks are sodded, and the overhanging trees are lighted every evening with thousands of red, white and blue bulbs; winding thru the city, represents their stock in trade.

"San Antonio is the southern boundary of the garden spot of Texas. From there north about 200 miles wide, one sees beautiful country all under cultivation, all indications point to a large cotton crop. The first bale of cotton brought into Victoria last week raised on an acre and a half of ground, netted $93.50. "Soldiers everywhere. It is amusing to hear the opinion of the northern soldiers of the southland. It would be a terrible hardship, should they be called for actual service in Mexico. I was in San Antonio yesterday watching the government try out four armored machine gun trucks which the White company built, our last order of seven hundred trucks will have been delivered by July 25.

The border states would like to see things cleaned up, for their own safety. Just the last week I heard a Mexican say, after he had read the headlines on his Mexican paper, "U. S. afraid to fight; he only bluff." We hope to get back to your glorious country one of these days, and if we ever do, never Texas again in summer.

With very best wishes for your success, I am

GILBERT PARKER TELLS ABOUT WAR PROGRESS

REVIEWS EVENTS FROM STAND-
POINT OF THE ALLIES

Points To Marvelous Changes Which Have Taken Place In England—
Organized Effort Has Produced
Desired Results—Examples of English Foresight.

London, July 29.—The Right Honorable Sir Gilbert Parker, Bart., M. P., whose services to the British cause have been notable in field of publicity in the United States has made the following statement to the Associated Press on the European war:

"You ask me to make a statement upon the two years of war in which England, with her allies, France, Russia, Italy, Belgium, Portugal, Serbia and Montenegro, has been engaged."

"Three months ago the task would have been far more difficult than it is today. Since then Great Britain and France have moved forward on their fronts and with tremendous effect—but of that later. Also, during that time, Russia has moved heavily upon the troops of the central empire and in Southeastern corner of the Russian front has driven in, league upon league, the Austrian troops, has captured sector upon sector, city upon city in the regions where Austria was dominant, and has made prisoners of 300,000 men."

"Over in Asia Minor the field of conquest has been enlarged and developed. Erzerum and Erzingan have been captured and other centers of Turkish authority have been taken. The renowned von Hindenburg, up in the Riga district has been driven back mile after mile and Russian prowess has proved itself beyond question. Russian generals like Brussiloff and Grand Duke Nicholas have established Russian positions weakened at the beginning of the war thru lack of munitions."

"Looking back one is forced to wonder how Germany was stayed in her march of conquest. According to every rule she should have been in Paris at the time she herself appointed early in the autumn of 1914. She came very near it. What stopped her?"

"She had left out of her calculations the strategic skill which belongs by nature to the French army, the new French army from behind Paris and the contemptible little British army."

"It is a remarkable thing that on the western front the only gains of Germany was achieved in the first few weeks of the war! Those gains were of immense strategic value to her. They included the mining and industrial districts of France and nearly the whole of Belgium from which she has steadily drawn practical support and advantage and supplies. The wonder is not that the Allies have done so well, but that with all her preparations and her perfect armament, Germany and her obedient colleagues, Austria and Turkey and Bulgaria, have done so badly."

"Apparently at the beginning of the war everything was in their hands, everything except one—the British navy. If Germany could have mastered her as she mastered Belgium and a goodly portion of France, the war long since would have been over. France would have been a third rate power under practical German control; Russia would have been driven back into her steppe and plains, once more the slave of German influence and control and the British Empire as we know it would have become a thing of the past. What the British navy did was to sweep German merchant commerce from the seas, prevent Germany from trading with the rest of the world, except by crooked methods, bottle up her fleet to uselessness, drive her south Atlantic fleet to the bottom of the sea and throttle and choke German export to an extent that great cities like Hamburg have lost the hum of their activity, and outside the Baltic Sea, there is no stir of German commerce save in a freakish enterprise like that of the Deutschland. Those, however, who count the work of the Deutschland as extraordinary should remember that it is not original since a considerable number of British submarines have crossed the Atlantic during the last year safely and surely. It is not strange that the Deutschland accomplished its feat. It will be very strange, however, if that feat is repeated by many sister submarines."

Submarines Cannot Restore Commerce.

"German foreign commerce cannot be rehabilitated by the activities of submarines. Since the battle of Jutland it can be safely and surely said that the seas are still controlled overwhelmingly by the British fleet. The German fleet came out and then fled to cover again after a stiff fight."

"But let us now take the field of battle on the Western front. For a whole year or more critics in the United States whose only idea of warfare was that of constant action, have continuously asked why it was Great Britain, which had recruited between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 of men should be doing nothing on the Western front. They complained that France was left alone at Verdun and elsewhere. They did not realize that France knew she had at her disposal at any moment the British troops which were holding their own line of front and steadily extending it. They did not remember that at the beginning of the war Great Britain was armed on a basis of a mere handful of men; and that having men—a million or two millions—she still could not equip them because she had not factories or munitions except upon the scale of the handful."

"Men had to be recruited, fed, uniformed, equipped, artillery had to be developed and extended beyond all experience of the past. Rifles had to be supplied. And the one reason why there was such delay in making a move on the western front by the British was lack of equipment. The push forward at Loos was not final and effective because there were not sufficient munitions."

Munitions Plentiful.

"But what is the condition of affairs today? There are enough munitions. Because big men have given their brains and skill to the task of organization; because the manual workers of England have aroused themselves to a complete sense of duty; because they have given up trades union regulations for the period of the war; because, without murmuring, they have thrown up their holidays because hundreds and thousands of women have joined the munitions works or have entered into fields of occupation formerly monopolized by men, such as the conductors of cars on trams, driving vans working upon farms, clerking in offices, doing men's work in scores of small trades, because all England in every corner of it, is alive to the terrible significance of the world fight and has given its best blood, mind, strength and craft to the nation's cause."

"In spite of criticism and complaint, England would not and did not move on the Western front until she was ready, tho she was willing to help at Verdun if needed and said so. And she was not ready until she could dominate, as she has done, the German artillery by a greater weight of metal; until, making a move forward over the whole of her line, with France moving forward on the whole of her line, they both could make good their successes, mile by mile, and steadily and surely relinquish the capacity of resistance upon the part of Germany. This they have done."

Allies All Moved Forward

"What is the position today? Every one of the Allies has moved forward and at the same time and every one has succeeded, as she has moved, Italy, like Russia, France and England elsewhere, has succeeded in her field against Austria, Germany cannot put forward her men to help Austria. Austria is harassed by Italy and by Russia. Germany is harassed and hammered by England, Russia, France and Belgium."

"There is no rest for Germany anywhere. She cannot shift her troops from front to front, as she did in the early days of the war, smashing one enemy here and then whisking her troops over to smash another enemy there."

"Mistakes? The Allies no doubt have made mistakes, but England has made no such mistakes as have been made by Germany, all of whose plans have gone awry. England was expected to, and promised to, furnish 150,000 men for the protection of Belgium in case of an European war—and that was all. She has, in fact, provided an army and navy personnel of nearly 5,000,000 men and has trebled the personnel of her fleet. Could any other nation in the world furnish over 4,000,000 men on a voluntary basis, as Great Britain has done?"

English Foresight.

"Americans should understand that it is not alone in the field of battle that Great Britain has proved her capacity for organization. She has proved it in the civil field, she has nationalized the railways of the country and has protected the regular dividends; she secured the sugar crop of the world at the very beginning of the war, thru which sugar is cheaper today in Great Britain than it is in the United States and at the same time has got out of it a revenue of nearly thirty four million dollars."

"She rescued the British people from being done by meat trusts by seizing all ships which could carry chilled meat, and having the ships, she could get her meat on fair terms, and has done so—50,000 tons a month for Great Britain and France and 10,000 tons for Italy. She has also supplied France with steel, boots, shoes and uniforms. She has made coal a public military service and by act of parliament has fixed the profit of the coal mines and she supplies the British, French and Italian navies with coal."

"She has organized the purchase of wheat by a small committee, which also buys and ships wheat and oats, fodder, etc., for Italy. She has bought up the fish supply of Norway and very lately bought up against German intrigue the great bulk of food exports of Holland."

"She has put on a five shilling income tax, which has been paid without protest by the mass of the British people. She has drawn upon her financial resources till she has loaned her allies and her overseas dominions 450,000,000 pounds and she has taken as high as 80 per cent of the war profits of the great manufacturing firms."

Organization Is Perfected.

"The organization is not ornate and spectacular but there never was a time when all the people of the country were so occupied in national things, when so many have given themselves up, without pay or reward, to doing national work. Her power of organization is proved most thoroughly by the work of the ministry of munitions, which, under the indefatigable Mr. Lloyd George has increased the three government munition factories before the war to 4,000 establishments with 2,000,000 workers; has arranged centers for 500,000 people and has erected twenty national workshops within one case, a population of 50,000 people."

"As for manufacture—in a fortnight as many heavy shells can be made as were made in the first year

ADMIRAL WINSLOW
RETIRES FROM NAVY.
Surrenders Command of Pacific Fleet to Rear-Admiral Caperton.

Washington, D. C., July 29.—With the retirement of Admiral Cameron McRae Winslow, who today turns over the command of the Pacific fleet to Rear Admiral Caperton and goes on the retired list on account of age, the United States Navy loses one of its ablest and most honorable and useful servants. His career, from the date of his graduation from the naval academy in 1875, has been full of honors and credit, and few officers of the navy have served in so many different capacities.

Admiral Winslow comes of the famous naval family of that name, being a nephew of the Winslow who commanded the Kearsarge in her famous battle with the Alabama. He was born in the District of Columbia and entered the Annapolis academy in 1870.

His first sea duty after graduation was in the "big ship Tennessee" on the Asiatic station, 1875-77. Other vessels he served in include the Constitution, Pensacola, Kearsarge, Alliance and Terror to 1899. He was advanced several numbers for extraordinary heroism during the war with Spain. While a lieutenant in 1898 he most gallantly led a small party of volunteers to cut the Cuban cables off Cienfuegos, Cuba, in order that the Spanish forces might be cut off from all communication with Spain.

For three hours the American sailors in the boats were under the heaviest kind of fire from the Spaniards on shore, but Lieutenant Winslow and his men bravely kept at work until two of the cables had been cut. Lieutenant Winslow was at that time in command of the Nashville. The lieutenant and his men also grappled a third cable, but the fire of the Spaniards was so terrific that they had to drop it. Shortly after Lieutenant Winslow's launch was taken in tow by a steam cutter from the Nashville he was struck by a rifle ball in the left hand. The wound was painful, but he was able to continue in command.

While holding the rank of commodore Winslow made a cruise from New York around the coast of South America with Secretary Root as a passenger. Subsequently he was on duty at the Bureau of Navigation, and served as naval aide to President Roosevelt. He was the first officer to command the torpedo boat Cushing, one of the first vessels of this type commissioned in the navy.

Admiral Winslow is known as one of the most skillful navigators in the navy and it has been said of him that he knows the Atlantic better perhaps than any other officer. It was Admiral Winslow who some years ago startled the Sandy Hook pilots and New York Navy Yard without the assistance of a pilot.

Admiral William B. Caperton, who succeeds Admiral Winslow in command of the Pacific fleet, is also a well known veteran of the naval service. He is a Tennessean and was graduated from Annapolis in the same class as Admiral Winslow. He has held the rank of rear admiral since 1913. When he first went to sea it was with the old man-of-war Hartford, and from that time to this he has been part of the evolution of the navy, with conspicuous appointments to land duty alternating with the routine service at sea that has taken him about the world again and again. He visited 1878 and the Queens' Jubilee in London in 1897. He was present at the inauguration of President Gomez in Caracas, Venezuela, and of President Gomez at Havana. His appointment to the command of the Pacific fleet comes as a reward for his recent distinguished services in the work of restoring order in Haiti and San Domingo.

TO BREAK THE NEWS

TO HUGHES

New York, July 29.—The big event of the coming week in political circles will be the Republican notification meeting in this city Monday. Those in charge of the arrangements are leaving no stone unturned that will insure a large and enthusiastic demonstration. Carnegie Hall has been selected as the place where the faithful from far and near will gather to hear Mr. Hughes formally notified that he is the presidential nominee on the Republican ticket. It will be the first general gathering of the clans and the managers hope to make it a get-together affair which will bring all factions solidly behind the Hughes ticket. The Progressives will be given an important role. The chief features of the program will be the notification address by Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio and the address of acceptance by Mr. Hughes. At the conclusion of the ceremonies the party leaders and invited guests will adjourn to the Hotel Astor where Mr. Hughes will hold a public reception.

Miss Tena DeGrote and sister, Mrs. Robert Sentney, and Master Leo Bourn were in the city Saturday from Chaplin.

Only $1 Puts This New Hoosier
In Your Home on the Famous Hoosier Plan

Prices Will Advance When this Allotment Is Gone.

Before the coming prices take effect, you may choose between the new "Hoosier Wonder" pictured here or one of the other celebrated Hoosiers—"Hoosier Beauty," "Hoosier Special" or "Hoosier De Luxe."

The terms of this Hoosier Plan in our store are these:

1. $1 puts the cabinet you choose in your home.
2. $1 weekly quickly pays for it.
3. The low Cash Price fixed by the factory prevails strictly.
4. No interest. No extra fees.
5. This sale is conducted under the direct supervision of the Hoosier Company.

Only by grasping this opportunity at once can you be sure of getting your cabinet on the Hoosier Plan—and at the present low prices.

You realize of course that these terms could not be offered except on a very limited number of cabinets.

WHY PRICES MUST BE INCREASED.

50,000 cabinets—the entire spring output of the Hoosier factory—were sold in six weeks after they announced their new models. In some cities women have been unable for several months to get this most popular style.

Now the factory has made up 20,000 more for July and August sales. The next lot, after these are gone, must be sold at higher prices. This is due to the increased cost of all raw material entering into their manufacture.

OUR SALE MAY CLOSE ANY DAY

If all the women who need the Hoosier should come for it tomorrow, our full allotment of Hoosier Cabinets would be taken before night and the sale would close. This happened in some towns during a similar sale two years ago. Yet, if women delay, the sale may last a week or more. But which now is best for you—to take chances and miss this opportunity, or come to our store tomorrow so you can find out about this cabinet and decide before too late?

WM. McNAMARA DIED AT BEARDSTOWN FROM HEART

Went To That Town From Jacksonville Ten Days Ago—No Relatives Here.

William, alias "Biddy" McNamara, who has been a well known character about Jacksonville for a number of years died suddenly at the Riverside hotel in Beardstown Friday night at 11 o'clock. Circumstances of death were such that a coroner's jury was empanelled and the verdict was death from heart prostration.

McNamara went to Beardstown about ten days ago and for four days had been in the employ of the Beardstown Construction company which is engaged in the erection of a new building. He was employed as a laborer. From the testimony of the foreman McNamara had not been able to work a full day. Friday morning he told foreman that he thought he would be able to work the entire day as he had not been drinking. About 2 o'clock in the afternoon he went to the foreman and said he would have to quit for the day.

He left the job and no more was seen of him until he went to the Riverside hotel where he was stopping. He apparently was all right and ate a hearty supper. Shortly afterward he went to bed on a cot in the hallway of the hotel. About 10 o'clock guests passing thru the hall noticed that he was sick and a physician was summoned. McNamara was unconscious and died at 11 o'clock.

Deceased was 41 years of age and was born in or near Winchester. He came from a good family but was addicted to drink and had become a physical wreck from the habit.

He had a brother living in Beardstown who is a switchman but who did not know his brother was there until told of his death. This brother was not in a position financially to pay funeral expenses and the body was buried in the potter's field at Beardstown Saturday.

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY TO MRS. WALTER WITHAM

STRICKEN WITH HEART DISEASE SATURDAY EVENING AT PISGAH HOME

Attack was Superinduced by Heat According to Dr. R. R. Jones, the Physician Summoned—Had Been in Jacksonville Trading—Inquest This Forenoon.

Mrs. Walter Witham, aged 36 years, died suddenly at her home near Pisgah at 9:30 o'clock Saturday evening. Dr. R. R. Jones, of Woodson, who was called stated that death resulted from heart trouble superinduced by heat.

Mrs. Witham was in Jacksonville Saturday afternoon and apparently was in the best of health. She returned home and after supper she and her husband sat on the porch for some time. About 9 o'clock she complained of feeling tired and suggested that they retire. Mr. Witham was lying on the bed and his wife went into another room to get a garment and when she returned and started toward the bed fell to the floor. Mr. Witham hastened to her assistance and a neighbor was called. Dr. Jones was summoned but Mrs. Witham was dead when the physician arrived.

Deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thurston of Murrayville. She was married to Walter Witham eight years ago. Her husband and one son Haskell aged 7 years and one daughter aged 18 months survive. Mrs. Witham is survived also by three brothers and five sisters: Laven Thurston and Covey Thurston, Murrayville and Roland Thurston, Woodson; Mrs. Ferlie Mann, residing in Kentucky; Mrs. Della Cline and Misses Sadie, Cresonia and Lola Thurston, Murrayville.

Mrs. Thurston was a member of the Baptist church and was a woman who won the respect and esteem of all with whom she came in contact. Her sudden passing will bring sorrow to a host of friends. During her whole life Mrs. Witham had been blessed with good health.

Coroner Wright was notified soon after Mrs. Witham's death and began at once to empanel a jury. The inquest will be held early this forenoon at the Witham home. No funeral arrangements have as yet been made.

PRICES ON FORDS TO BE REDUCED IS RUMOR

Confirmation of Authorized Cut Expected Monday—Tractor Announcement About Ready.

The rumor was current Saturday that the Ford Motor company will issue a statement Tuesday reducing the price of Ford touring cars from $440 to $360. This would mean a price reduction of $80. The Ford runabout has sold at $390 and this is to be reduced to $345. C. N. Priest, local agent for the Ford company, declared that he had received no information about the change in prices altho he would probably have a statement from the company ready for publication Monday or Tuesday. H. J. Rodgers, who has the Ford agency in Waverly, said that he had been informed of the new prices. The Ford company is credited with having an $8,000,000 building in course of construction for the special purpose of manufacturing tractors, and it is further said that models of the tractors which the company has been promising for the past two years will be ready for demonstration within the next sixty days. It is promised that the price will be sensational by comparison with the figures at which other tractors are offered.

NO DISARMAMENT THERE

Springfield News-Record: The attention of opponents of adequate preparedness is respectfully called to a dispatch from Tokio announcing that Japan has decided to build four super-dreadnaughts at once. It is also reported that the naval program decided upon by the Japanese government provides for the continual strengthening of the navy up to 1922.

This may mean anything to the preachers of preparedness. But a little nation like Japan doesn't put $125,000,000 into battleships without having a very distinct idea that they will be useful as well as ornamental, and battleships are not designed for shipping rice or hunting whales.

If Japan, in casting about for an easy mark to try her ships on, should discover that we didn't have as good a navy, the results might not be pleasant for us.
